

Darts – Glossary

aforementioned adjective [only before noun] mentioned before in an earlier part of a piece of writing aim verb [intransitive/transitive] to point a gun or an object you are throwing at something that you want to hit bull's-eye noun [countable] the circle in the center of a target that you try to hit in the sports of shooting or archery, or in the game of darts casual adjective relaxed and informal The bar has a casual low-key atmosphere.

championship noun [countable] a competition to find the best player or team in a sport or game cheer verb [intransitive/transitive] to give a loud shout of happiness or approval compete verb [intransitive] to try to win a competition Ten teams will compete for the trophy.

consecutive adjective following one after another in order and with nothing else in between corresponding adjective [only before noun] related to or connected with something diameter noun [countable/uncountable] a straight line that crosses a circle through the center dominate verb [intransitive/transitive] to play much better than your opponents in a game or sport electronic adjective

using electricity and extremely small electrical parts such as microchips and transistors erupt verb [intransitive]

if a place erupts, there is suddenly a lot of noise as people start shouting, laughing, or fighting fiber noun [countableable/uncountableable] a type of cloth or similar material made of fibers guide verb [transitive] to carefully move a vehicle or other moving object so that it goes where you want it to go inaccurate adjective not accurate or correct

live adjective

a live television or radio program can be watched or listened to at the same time as it happens nickname noun [countable] an informal name that your friends or family call you that is not your real name penetrate verb [intransitive/transitive] to get inside an object or body by getting through something prize noun [countable]

a reward you get for being successful in a sport, competition, or game, or for being better than others at something. Someone who has won a prize is called a prize winner.

professional adjective

playing a sport or doing an activity as a job rather than for enjoyment

 $a\ professional\ actor/football\ player/photographer$ punish verb [transitive] to make someone suffer as a result of something they have done recreation noun [countable/uncountable] an activity done for enjoyment Shopping is my main recreation.

referee noun [countable] someone whose job is to make sure that players in a game obey the rules roar verb [intransitive]

if a crowd of people roar, they all shout at the same time because they are angry or excited

This page has been downloaded from www.insideout.net It is photocopiable, but all copies must be complete pages.

Copyright © Macmillan Publishers, S.,A. de C.V. 2010. Definitions adapted from the Macmillan English Dictionary for learners of American English © Macmillan Publishers Limited 2002 and the Macmillan Essential Dictionary for learners of American English © Macmillan Publishers Limited 2003 www.macmillandictionary.com safety noun [only before noun] relating to how safe something is, or designed to make something safer

Darts – Glossary

(continued)

The debate so far has focused mainly on safety issues.

subtract verb [intransitive/transitive] to take a number or amount from another number or amount. The symbol for this is "—" and is called a minus sign.

tail noun [countable] the back part of something that is long or that consists of many parts take turns phrase

if people take turns, each of them does their share of it, one after the other We took turns steering the boat.

target noun [countable] an object that you have to hit in a game or sport Few players managed to get their shots on target.

throw verb [intransitive/transitive] to use your hand to send an object through the air tip noun [countable] a narrow or pointed end, especially of something long or thin the tip of your nose/finger traditional adjective [usually before noun] relating to or based on very old customs, beliefs, or stories variation noun [countable] something that is slightly different from similar things

The dessert is a variation on a classic recipe.