

Food inventions – Glossary

annoyed adjective

feeling slightly angry or impatient

I couldn't see her face, but she sounded pretty annoyed.

batch noun [countable]

an amount of a food that is prepared or baked at one time

He took the first batch of cookies out of the oven.

by accident phrase

by chance, without being planned or intended

Occasionally we would meet by accident in the hall.

carnival noun [countable]

a collection of large machines you can ride on, and places where you can buy food and try to win prizes by playing games. Carnivals usually travel from town to town.

chef noun [countable]

someone who cooks food in a restaurant as their job commonly adverb

usually or frequently

dish noun [countable]

an open container like a plate, but not as deep as a bowl, used for serving or cooking food dried adjective

dried substances such as food, milk, or flowers have had the water removed from them

earl noun [countable]

a man with a very high social position in the UK freeze verb [intransitive/transitive]

if water freezes, or if something freezes it, it gets very cold and changes into ice heat verb [transitive]

to make something hot

melt verb [transitive]

to change a solid substance into a liquid munch verb [intransitive/transitive] to eat something using your teeth and jaws in a noisy way oven noun [countable]

a large piece of equipment in a kitchen that you heat, usually with electricity or gas, to cook food in. An oven often has a broiler in it.

overnight adverb

during the night, or from one evening until the next morning

Soak the beans overnight in cold water.

pastry noun [uncountable]

a food made by mixing flour, fat, and water. The mixture is rolled flat and used for making pies and other food.

resort noun [countable]

a place that many people go to for a vacation

rubber noun [uncountable]

a strong substance that can bend easily and is used for making things such as tires and boots. Rubber comes from a tree.

run out phrasal verb [intransitive]

to use all of something and not have any left

Some hospitals are running out of blood supplies.

satisfied adjective

pleased with what has happened or with what you have achieved snack noun [countable]

a small amount of food that you eat between meals spin verb [intransitive]

to turn around and around quickly stall noun [countable]

a large table or a small building that is open at the front, used for selling things or for giving people information synthetic adjective

made from artificial materials or substances, not from natural ones thread noun [countable/uncountable]

a long thin fiber or piece of something vendor noun [countable]

someone who sells something, but not in a store